NEW BOOKS.

Bimetallism.

A Summary and Examination of the Arguments for and against a Bimetallic System of Currency. By Major LEONARD DARWIN. 12mo, cloth, $2.50.

This is an instructive and candid discussion of bimetallism from the scientific point of view. It is written without passion or prejudice, and is an informing and healthful contribution to the literature of the subject. The author analyzes the results which would follow the free coinage of silver in the United States, and also discusses the consequences of a union upon bimetallism by the United States and the principal countries of Europe. The broad and intelligent presentation of financial questions made in this book invests it with a special importance and value.

Astronomy.

By AGNES M. CLERKE, A. FOWLER, A.R.C.S., and J. ELLARD GORE, M.R.I.A. A new volume in the Concise Knowledge Library. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

This is a concise and most instructive account of the results attained in the field of astronomy at the present time. The book is written by students of the subject who are entitled to speak with authority, and the information which they give is expressed in simple and popular language.

"It has fallen to the editor of the Concise Knowledge Library to plan a book that shall be adequate and also concise, and he has succeeded. The new volume of the Library is an admirable review and history of the subject. Miss Agnes M. Clerke has treated of it historically; Mr. A. Fowler describes the practical side of astronomical research; Miss Clerke again deals with the solar system, and Mr. J. Ellard Gore with the sidereal heavens. The book is well written and illustrated, well printed and strongly bound, and is altogether a model of a popular work of reference and instruction."—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Passionate Pilgrim.

By PERCY WHITE, author of "Mr. Bailey-Martin," "Corruption," etc. No. 235, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"The even, strong, and entertaining quality of Mr. Percy White's work is illustrated in 'A Passionate Pilgrim.' . . . The characters are drawn with that touch of cynical humor that marks Mr. White's usual attitude toward men and affairs, and they live their brief parts before us, not play them. . . . We never can afford to ignore them."—London Literary World.

The Translation of a Savage.

By GILBERT PARKER, author of "The Seats of the Mighty," "The Trail of the Sword," "The Trespassers," etc. New uniform edition, enlarged. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Interest, pith, force, and charm. Mr. Parker's story possesses all these qualities. . . . Almost bare of synthetical decoration, his parrgraphs are stirring because they are real. We read at times—as we have read the great masters of romance—breathlessly."—The Critic.

READY NEXT WEEK.

A Voyage of Consolation.

By Mrs. E. C. COTES (Sara Jeannette Duncan), author of "A Social Departure," "An American Girl in London," "His Honour, and a Lady," etc. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Mrs. Cotes returns to the field which she developed with such success in "A Social Departure" and "An American Girl in London." Some characters which delighted thousands of readers reappear in this new book, and their entertaining experiences on the Continent are set forth with unfailing good spirits and an apt appreciation of the picturesque and humorous features of European travel. The text is admirably supplemented by vivacious illustrations.

NOTES IN SEASON.

GINN & CO. will publish in March "The New Century Speaker," selected and adapted by Henry Allyn Frink, Professor of Logic, Rhetoric, and Public Speaking in Amherst College.

HENRY HOLT & CO. have just ready "A Primer of the Bible," by W. H. Bennett, which is said to be a very compact and helpful manual for those who wish to study the Bible in the light of contemporary criticism.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO. have just ready the long-expected volume on "How to Play Golf," by Mr. Whigham, the amateur champion. They will publish shortly a small volume, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, entitled "Priscilla's Love-Story," and "The Londoners," Robert Hichens' new satirical novel.

D. C. HEATH & CO., Boston, announce for early publication "The Essentials of Argumentation," by E. J. MacEwan. This book is the outgrowth of long experience in college work. It contains a systematic discussion of the principles of argumentation, full analysis of several great masterpieces, and is equipped with a glossary of technical terms and a list of propositions for argument or debate.

THE MACMILLAN CO. will publish shortly a translation, by Mrs. L. Christen, of Dr. A. Sabatier's interesting study in religious philosophy, entitled "The Vitality of Christian Dogmas and Their Power of Evolution." The work will have a preface by Dr. W. H. Freemantle, Dean of Ripon. The publication of Zola's latest work, "Paris," has been postponed until the conclusion of the author's trial for his outspoken defence of Dreyfuss.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready the reminiscences of Prof. F. Max Müller entitled "Auld Lang Syne," a portion of which has appeared in several issues of Cosmopolis last year; "The Later Renaissance," by David Hannay, a new volume in the series of Periods of European Literature, edited by Prof. Saintsbury; and "For Love of Country," a story of land and sea in the days of the Revolution, by Cyrus Townsend Brady, Archdeacon of Pennsylvania.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "The Story of Modern France, 1789–1895," by André Lebon, a new volume in their Story of the Nations series; "Thirty Years of American Finance, a short financial history of the government and people of the United States, 1865–1896," by Alexander Dana Noyes, author of the New York Evening Post's "Free Coinage Catechism" in the campaign of 1896; and "A Simple Grammar of English Now in Use," by Dr. John Earle, Professor of Anglo-Saxon in the University of Oxford.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just issued a translation of "Andrée's Balloon Expedition in Search of the North Pole," by Henri Lachambre and Alexis Machuron, Andrée's assistants in the preparation, equipment, and departure of the balloon Eagle last July from one of the Spitzbergen group of islands. They have also just ready Walter Learned's "Treasury of American Verse." In a modest preface the editor disclaims any "assumption of authority" in making selections, and speaks of his desire simply to make "a collection of those poems which every one knows, and a few more which the editor hopes that some would like to know and keep."

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued the following batch of novels: "Ribstone Pippins," by Maxwell Gray (Miss M. G. Tuttiett), the author of "The Silence of Dean Maitland," etc., a small volume which contains "the short and simple annals of the poor" of a countryside in the south of England; "The Red Bridge Neighborhood," a novel, with a New England setting, by Maria Louise Pool; "The Sack of Monte Carlo," a story with many amusing incidents, by Walter Frith, author of "In Search of Quiet"; "The Fight for the Crown," a novel, by W. E. Norris, the earlier chapters of which give a picture of Dublin and of Irish country life, showing the distressful conditions of the people; and a translation, by R. Nisbet Bain, of Maurus Jokai's Turkish novel, "The Lion of Janina, or, the last days of the Janissaries."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Borrow, G: Lavengro: the scholar, the gypsy, the priest. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. 18+532 p. D. (New library.) cl., $1. [440

Brady, Cyrus Townsend. For love of country: a story of land and sea in the days of the Revolution. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1898. c. 12+354 p. D. cl., $1.25. [441

The author is a graduate of the Naval Academy, and has seen sea service, so that his pictures of the sea are full of reality. Not less interesting than his vivid description of the fight of the Randolph and Yarmouth is the portion of his romance which carries the reader through the famous Trenton and Princeton campaigns, presenting a portrait of General Washington from quite a new standpoint.

Brown, J: Parasitic wealth; or, money reform: a manifesto to the people of the United States and to the workers of the whole world. Chic., C: H. Kerr & Co., 1898. c. '97. 2+169 p. D. cl., $1. [442

The destruction of parasitic wealth due to private ownership of land interest, protection, and other causes, is to be attained, the author believes, through "single tax," perpetual employment by the state, unlimited paper money, the abolition of interest, and the ownership by the national government of all railroads, telegraphs, etc.

Bulwer-Lytton, Sir E: G: Earle Lytton, [Lord Lytton.] The Caxtons: a family picture; il. by Chris. Hammond. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. 4+472 p. il. D. (Illustrated English lib., no. 10.) cl., $1. [443

A study of the diplomacy through which the neutrality of the Great Lakes was secured, in chapters entitled: The northern lake boundary of a new American nation; The struggle for the control of the lakes, 1783-1815; The agreement of 1817; The Canadian rebellion and boundary questions, 1837-1861; Agitation of lake defences during the American Civil War; After the storm, 1861-1896. Index.

Calvert, Eliz. H. Sealth the city by the inland sea. Seattle, Wash., The Calvert Co., [1898.] c. '97. unp. por. il. Q. cl., $1.25. [445

Sealth is the Indian name for Seattle. Brief descriptive poems and sketches portray the natural beauties of this city and the surrounding country. Some of the poems deal with Indian life and customs; and there is a biographical sketch and portrait of Queen Angeline, the daughter of the Indian chief Sealth, for whom Seattle was named. Illustrated with photographs of local scenery.

Child, Francis Ja., ed. English and Scottish popular ballads; édition de luxe. Pts. 9 and 10, (completing the work;) with a biographical sketch of Prof. Child by G: L. Kittredge. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1897-8. por. 4°, cl., net, ea., $5; or in 5 v., 4°, cl., net, $50. [Ed. limited to 1000 copies.] [446

Churchill, Winston. The celebrity: an episode. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 3+302 p. D. cl, $1.50. [447

The scene of this unusually laughable book is laid in a small watering-place on one of the western lakes. A famous author who closely resembles the treasurer of a popular bicycle company; a rich eccentric who gives a hunt ball somewhat surprising to the aristocratic quiet of the village; a clever lawyer who tells the story; the fitting female elements; and an entertaining plot skilfully worked out give a new comedy of errors.

Davenport, Homer C. Cartoons, by Homer C. Davenport; with an introd. by J: J. Ingalls. N. Y., The De Witt Publishing House, 1898. 100 p. f°, cl., Popular ed., $1.75; Library ed., $2.50. [448

Earle, J: A simple grammar of English now in use. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. 12+297 p. D. cl., $1.50. [449

"This is a book not of philology, but of grammar. In other words, it treats language not in its physical aspect, as sound or syllable, but in its mental aspect, as discourse of thought. The aim is not scientific, but educational; not the mechanism of the mother tongue, but its mental action in practical use. . . . We will accordingly begin with the parts of speech, which are functions of thought, and from these we will proceed to the structure of the language in composition of prose and verse."—Preface. Professor of Anglo-Saxon, University of Oxford, author of "English prose: its elements, history, and usage."

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Egger, Augustine, (Bp.) The Catholic father: a manual of instructions and devotions for the use of Catholic fathers in modern times; rev. and adapted for use in the United States by an American missionary priest. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1898. c. 635 p. il. Tt. cl., 75 c. [450

This little book is intended to furnish a few hints for the guidance of Catholic fathers in their family and social life. It contains chapters on the dignity, duties, cares, joys, etc., of a father; on the Catholic father; the sacrament of matrimony; husband and wife; the mother, child, Christian family; earliest religious and moral training; on prudence, justice, temperance, fortitude, chastity, etc. The second part embraces devotions and spiritual exercises for mass, confession, festivals, etc.

Eggleston, G: Cary. Southern stories; il. by R. F. Zogbaum. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 7+251 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [451

Stories of the southern army during the late war. The "Joe" so often mentioned in them is now Dr. Joseph W. Eggleston, of Richmond, Va.

English catalogue of books for 1897, giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland in 1897, and the principal books published in America; being a continuation of the "London" and "British" catalogues. 61*st year.* N. Y., Office of The Publishers' Weekly, 1898. 236 p. O. pap., $1.50. [452

Fairchild, Mrs. Salome Cutler. Scientific study of philanthropy; with outline study and bibliography, by Isabel Ely Lord. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1898, [Albany, N. Y., Educational Church Board.] 16 p. O. pap., 25 c. [453

This reprint from the American Journal of Sociology for Jan., 1898, may be ordered from the Educational Church Board, Albany. Mrs. Fairchild's paper points out the importance of a scientific study of philanthropy, and is supplemented by the classed bibliography, which gives through its headings and subheadings a systematic outline for the two-years' course of study discussed in the paper. The bibliography is restricted to English works.

Fellows, Odell T. Rhymes of reform. Pasadena, Cal., Press of G: A. Swerdfiger, [1898.] c. 54 p. S. pap., 25 c. [454

Finlayson, Arthur, Spurgeon, C: Haddon, Moodey, Dwight Lyman, [and others.] Faith. Chic., The Bible Institute Colportage Assoc., [1898.] 4-123 p. D. (Colportage lib., v. 3, no. 56.) pap., 15 c. [455

Contents: What I believe, by Arthur Finlayson; Faith, by C. H. Spurgeon; Faith, Trust, by D. L. Moody; What must I do to be saved ?, by W. Hay Aitken; Faith in Christ by Alexander Maclaren; Scriptural salvation, by C. H. Spurgeon; The power of feeble faith, by Alexander Maclaren; A solemn impeachment of unbelievers, by C. H. Spurgeon.

Foster, Randolph Sinks, D.D. God, nature and attributes. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, 1897. c. 26+280 p. O. (Studies in theology, no. 5.) cl., $3. [456

Supplements the author's former work on "Theism," which aimed to prove the existence of a first cause; this work is devoted to the nature and attributes of that Being.

Frith, Walter. The sack of Monte Carlo: an adventure of to-day, as narrated by Vincent Blacker, Esq., Lieutenant H. M.'s East—shire militia. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. '97. 8+244 p. D. cl., $1.25. [457

The narrator is a young man deeply in love, who needs £30,000. A sudden flash of inspiration comes to him that he may obtain the money by raiding Monte Carlo. The attractions of the adventure induce six men to join him, one of them an American, who goes into the affair with characteristic thoroughness, and supplies most of the brains. The party proceed to Monte Carlo, some by rail, others by steam yacht, which is moored close in shore to receive the booty. The raid is made, with many ridiculous incidents as accompaniment—the ending being very amusing.

Garlepp, Bruno. Germany's iron chancellor; tr. from the original German, and ed. by Sidney Whitman. Akron, Ohio, The Werner Co., [1898.] c. '97. 3-403 p. pors. il. F. subs., cl., $8; mor., $12. [458

"The story of Bismarck's life is told here with fulness of detail and in a style that keeps the reader's interest, although it is plain from the outset that it is the account of a thorough-going partisan, and in general explains Prince Bismarck's life from Prince Bismarck's point of view, rather than from an impartial student's view of the 'movements of the latter half of the century.' But the feature of the book that will be most attentively regarded, and that is of really the greatest interest, is the copious illustration. The modern idea of biography by illustration is carried out here to its fullest extent. Everything that pertains to Bismarck's life is pictured in all its relations. . . ."—New York Tribune.

Gleig, C: When all men starve: showing how England hazarded her naval supremacy, and the horrors which followed the interruption of her food-supply. N. Y., J: Lane, 1898. c. '97. 4+192 p. O. cl., $1.25. [459

An imaginary picture of England starving on account of her food-supply being cut off through a war with Germany, France, and Russia.

Griswold, W: McCrillis, comp. The novels of 1897. Cambridge, Mass., W: M. Griswold, [1898.] 32 p. O. pap., 25 c. [460

The novels published during 1897 by leading publishers in the United States, whether from American, English, or other foreign authors, are here presented in two briefly annotated lists. The annotations are in the nature of characterizations, being pithy adjectives quoted from notices that appeared in leading literary papers. Abbreviations in the title refer to the periodical and to the special number in which the notice may be found. The books are first given in an alphabetical author-list, the juveniles being separated from the novels; a second list gives the same titles rearranged by countries, periods of time, occupation, or of leading incidents such as bicycling, life-saving, mining, music, socialisms.

Hall, Bolton. Even as you and I. [New issue.] N. Y. and Chic., F. Tennyson Neely, [1898.] c. 97. 3-270 p. nar. S. (Prismatic lib.) cl., 50 c. [461

Jókai, Maurus. The Lion of Janina; or, the last days of the Janissaries: a Turkish novel; tr. by R. Nisbet Bain. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. '97. 6+295 p. O. cl., $1.25. [472

The scenes of this story vary between Janina, in Epirus, and Stamboul, and belong to the period of 1819. It involves a picture of the rottenness of the Turkish Empire, and the fatal power exercised by pashas in the distant parts, and by the Janissaries in the capital itself. Incidents of the Greek war of independence are introduced, and the Greek is painted the equal of the Turk for cruelty and treachery. The tale is a curious blending of roses and blood, of the delights of the harem and of brutal butchery. The Lion of Janina is a Turkish pasha who, by mingling the characteristics of the fox and the lion, has accumulated political influence and enormous wealth.

The matter, originally disposed in four lectures, has now been arranged in eight chapters, with the following titles: The principles of apostolic missions; The principles of modern missions; The problem of apostolic missions; The problem of modern missions; The methods of apostolic missions; The methods of modern missions; The results of apostolic missions, and The results of modern missions.

Merriam, Florence A. Birds of village and field: a bird-book for beginners. Bost., Houghton. Mifflin & Co., 1898. c. 49+406 p. il. D. cl., $2. [482

The birds are described plainly without the use of technical terms, and there are pictures of most of them. There are also family color keys based on colors and markings that one can note on the field and a general field color-key to all of the 154 birds described, and this key is illustrated by miniature heads of the species. From the statistics of the Department of Agriculture and other reliable sources the economic status of each bird is given, a fact of great interest to land-owners and teachers; migration lists are added for St. Louis, Washington and Connecticut; also detailed suggestions how and what to observe in the field.

Müller, F: Max. Auld lang syne. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1898. c. 8+325 p. por. O. cl., $2. [485

Prof. Müller's reminiscences cover almost all the years of the present century; he seems to have known every one worth knowing in his long career. He divides his book under musical and literary recollections, recollections of royalties and "beggars." He met and had delightful friendships with such men and women as the Mendelssohns, Liszt, the Schumanns, Moscheles, Thalberg, Clara Novello, Ferdinand Hiller, Jenny Lind, Robert Blum, Rückert, Matthew Arnold, Tennyson, Charles Kingsley, Browning, Carlyle, Froude, Ruskin and many others quite as noted; and knew various members of the royal families of England and Prussia. "Beggars" includes his amusing experience with respectable people who applied to him for money.

Norris, W: E: The fight for the crown: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. '97. 4+321 p. D. cl., $1.25. [488

Wilfred Elles, a young Englishman, who has inherited a large property, begins a political career by taking a subordinate post in Dublin, under the new Lord-Lieutenant. He visits one of the impoverished landlords in the country, Mr. Power, and he is greatly attracted by his host's daughter. A few years later, when he is having his first experiences as a member of Parliament, he renews his acquaintance with Miss Power, who has become one of the most beautiful and gifted of the London actresses. Here an interesting love-story follows. The Irish question is treated with fairness, pictures given of Dublin and of Irish country life, showing the distressful condition of the people, with some admirable chapters on London political society.

Pool, Maria Louise. The red-bridge neighborhood: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. 4+369 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [504

A story of rural New England. Olive Newcombe, a girl in humble circumstances, marries Robert Nawn, who works in a shoe factory. Robert and his father live in a miserable, dilapidated old house, the father having the reputation of being rich, but is known to be very miserly. Olive becomes the drudge of the Nawn homestead, and between overwork and poor food loses her health and beauty and her husband's love. The downward course of the Nawns—that is, father and son—is painfully pictured. Their love of money leads to crime and breaks Olive's heart. The story is gloomy in the extreme, sordid and painful.

References are made to books and articles on the following subjects: Plants; Insects; Geography; Birds; Physiology; Literature; Conduct; History and government; and lists are given of Poems of seasons and occasions; Stories for Christmas; Poems for reading to children and of children's books not classified, offering reading on a multitude of subjects. The groups are divided and subdivided—general reference books and special articles coming first—and the books relating to the various divisions of the subject following under special headings. The titles are followed very generally with brief descriptive notices or annotations, which are extremely helpful.

Armstrong & Son, 1898. 14+543 p. O. (Expositor's Bible, new 8th ser.) cl., $1.50. [511

The first volume of "The book of the twelve prophets" was issued in 1896. The present volume completes the series of the Expositor's Bible (49 v.). The same plan of treatment has been followed as in v. 1. A historical introduction is offered to each period. To each prophet are given first a chapter of critical introduction, and then one or more chapters of exposition. A complete translation has been furnished, with critical and explanatory notes.

The famous woman's rights woman does not include in this volume the incidents of her public career as a leader in the reform movement known as "the emancipation of woman." It consists chiefly of extracts from her diary telling the story of her private life "as the wife of an earnest reformer, as an enthusiastic housekeeper, proud of her skill in every department of domestic economy, and as the mother of seven children." It will amuse and interest, however, for other reasons than these, through Mrs. Stanton's remarkable travel experiences and descriptions of the many noted people she met in her long life.

The keynote to the book is found in the author's preface: "We believe," he says, "our Christian faith to be an idealistic conception of inspired prophecy of a social condition of universal peace and brotherhood, originally and practically applied by Jesus the Christ in the establishment of his church. We are not seeking to develop a new and original theory of our own, but rather to define and apply one that has already been partially developed, but in this materialistic age is but dimly discerned."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 19, 1898.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

RECEIPTS FOR PACKAGES FOR ENCLOSURE.

IT has for years been a matter of complaint, among small dealers more especially, that wholesale and jobbing houses refuse to give receipts for packages presented for enclosure in shipments to their customers. So general has the objection to this rule become that several wholesale houses have taken into consideration the possibility of a compromise, and brought the matter to the attention of the Trustees of The Stationers' Board of Trade. This body, after mature deliberation of the subject at its regular monthly meeting held on the 9th inst., reported adversely on the proposition submitted, and gave expression to their views in the following resolutions:

Whereas, This Board has been requested to exert its influence to induce the members of The Stationers' Board of Trade to adopt a system of giving receipts for packages sent to them, for enclosure, in shipments to their customers; and

Whereas, The practice of accepting, handling, packing, and forwarding such enclosures, is purely an act of accommodation, extended by shippers as a matter of courtesy to their customers, and availed of by buyers because of the economy in the cost of transportation which it secures;

Therefore be it Resolved, First: That in the opinion of this Board the giving of receipts for enclosure parcels might operate as an admission of liability for merchandise, in the handling of which the shipper has no financial interest;

Second: That it is equitable, just, and proper that all risk of forwarding merchandise in this manner should be assumed and borne by the buyer, as he alone is benefited by the shipper's act of courtesy and accommodation;

Third: That this Board cannot recommend its members to assume a responsibility which should be carried solely by the recipient of the accommodation;

Fourth: That a copy of this Resolution be mailed to every member of The Stationers' Board of Trade and to the Trade Journals.

There can be no question that the recommendation of The Stationers' Board of Trade in this matter is sound. The wholesale shipper is not a common carrier who receives compensation for a certain service and so can afford to take responsibility for goods entrusted to his care. Therefore, while the wholesaler or jobber uses all care, and takes every reasonable precaution, to make certain that packages left with him are duly forwarded to their destination, he must be relieved of the responsibility for any losses that might occur, otherwise he would certainly be obliged to refuse to accommodate his customers, which course, in time, might act as a greater hardship on the small dealer than the rare loss of packages under the present system.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PAPER AND PULP MAKERS.

THE annual meeting of the American Paper and Pulp Association, which marks its twentieth anniversary, was held at the Waldorf-Astoria on the 16th and 17th inst. The first session began at 10.30 A.M., in the Waldorf Banquet Hall, when the annual reports were read and committees appointed. The President reported that the Association did an export business in paper and pulp in the eleven months ending December, 1897, amounting to $4,000,000, being an increase of 56 per cent. over the year 1896. Papers were read by Professor Louis Bell, on "Use of Electric Motors in Paper-Making," and by Charles T. Scott, on "Electricity in Paper-Making."

At the afternoon session papers were read by Dr. Charles T. Emery, on "The Economic Use of Steam in Paper-Making"; by Professor Bernhardt E. Fernow, on "Forestry and Pulp Wood Supplies"; by Austin Carey, on "The Application of Forestry to the Spruce Lands of New England"; and by Gifford Pinchot, on "The Sustained Yield of Spruce Lands," with stereopticon illustrations. This was the first announcement of the results of investigations conducted by Mr. Pinchot and Dr. Seward Webb in the Adirondacks.

The last session was held on Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock, when papers were read by Clemens Herschel, on "Some Facts in Hydraulics"; by Professor Franklin H. Giddings, on "Combinations of Capital in Relation to National Prosperity"; and by William Cullen Bryant, on "Value of Trade Organizations."

The annual dinner was held in the Astor Gallery on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

THE TABER-PRANG ART COMPANY.

THE results of the consolidation of interests which was consummated in the formation of the Taber-Prang Art Company are already apparent in the combination of goods that will add much to the attractiveness of the dealer's store and result in increased profits, as he gets the benefit of a material reduction in price. Their new Spring and Easter line is now on view at the New York and Boston sales-rooms, and is also being shown by their travellers. They are offering many leaders at popular prices, while they are also prepared to meet the demand for finer goods. The assortment shown contains many dainty and artistic novelties in medallions and framed pictures, exquisite new designs in Easter booklets, several entirely new lines in sheet pictures and many new subjects added to their standard lines.

The new factory which they are erecting at Springfield is rapidly nearing completion, and while they will not occupy it this spring they will remove into it before commencing to fill fall orders. It will be the largest and most complete factory in this country devoted to this line of business.

The New York office of the company is located at 10 East Fifteenth Street, where Charles A. Kimball and E. W. Tanner, both well and favorably known to the trade, are in charge. The Boston office is at 13 Summer Street, in charge of H. W. Richter, for many years with L. Prang & Co., assisted by Frank W. Watkins. On the road William Bruns, W. G. Cross, and H. H. Locher will cover the Middle, Western, and Southern States, and J. H. Dorety the Pacific Coast and far West. All these men are old employes of the Taber Art Co. or L. Prang & Co., are well liked by the trade and know their wants.

MARK TWAIN PAYS IN FULL.

MUCH earlier than was expected Mark Twain (S. L. Clemens) has found it possible to wipe out his obligations to the creditors of the late firm of Charles L. Webster & Co. His legal representative has sent out the following letter, which explains itself :

26 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, February 7, 1898.

The Publishers' Weekly, New York City.

DEAR SIRS: Mr. Clemens has placed in my hands the necessary funds and has instructed me to pay you the balance of your claim against the late firm of C. L. Webster & Company at the time of its failure.

Mr. Clemens desires me to thank you very heartily for the kind expressions you made in reference to his payment in December, as well as for the kindness you have shown him in this whole matter

Will you please sign the enclosed receipt and return it to me? Yours truly, K. I. HARRISON.

FINED FOR SELLING BOOKS WITHOUT A LICENSE.

THE case of the State of Wisconsin against R. E. Sherwood, a bookseller of Duluth, charged with selling books as a transient, without a license, came up in court at Eau Claire, Wis., last week. The defendant's lawyer, alleging serious flaws in the proceedings, secured a writ of habeas corpus. The State's attorney appeared in the Circuit court and on his argument the presiding judge dismissed the writ. The State then went on with the trial in the Justice's court, the defendant refusing to appear, and the jury's verdict was that Sherwood must pay 75 cents for a State license and costs of about $25. An execution will follow, and the end of this remarkable case is not yet in sight.

OBITUARY NOTES.

RUDOLF BROCKHAUS, who died on the 28th ult. after a short illness, was the younger of the two sons of the late Heinrich Brockhaus. He was born July 16, 1838. In 1863 he joined his father and elder brother, Dr. Eduard Brockhaus, as partner in the firm, and in 1874 the two sons succeeded their father in the proprietorship and conduct of the business. On June 30, 1895, the two brothers retired from the concern, which devolved upon Eduard's son Albert, and Rudolf's son Rudolf.

NAPOLEON B. KNEASS, the publisher of the first magazine for the blind ever published in this country, died in Philadelphia, on the 3d inst. He was born in Philadelphia in 1844, and became blind in his seventh year. In 1867 he began the publication of the Magazine for the Blind printed in raised letters. Some time after that he began the publication of a Music Journal for the Blind. He also published other works for the blind. Mr. Kneass, though blind and deformed, possessed unusual energy and strength.

GEORGE MACLEAN ROSE, head of the firm of Hunter, Rose & Co., printers and publishers, of Toronto, died on the 10th inst. He was born March 14, 1829, in Wick, Caithness-shire, Scotland, and learned the printing trade in the office of The John O'Groat Journal. At the age of 22 he went to Canada, and entered the employ of John C. Becket, of Montreal. After several other engagements Mr. Rose went to Quebec, where he formed the company that afterward became Hunter, Rose & Co., which became printers for the government. On the removal of the seat of government to Ottawa in 1865 the firm of course followed. In 1868 a branch was established in Toronto, the firm having secured a ten years' contract for the printing of the Provincial Government. In 1871 their relations with the Dominion Government terminated, and the business was consolidated in Toronto. The firm then entered extensively into the business of publishing Canadian reprints of English copyright books, for which a ready market was found.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A "SOFT ANSWER" FROM THE UNION LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Referring to a letter from one W. Drysdale, in the current issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, we beg to say that it is not our desire to enter into a controversy with this person, but he or any one else may see the lists of quotations by calling upon Mr. Warner. The books were selected by Mr. Warner from our catalogue at our regular catalogue prices.

Very truly yours,

THE UNION LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

BROTHERS OF THE BOOK.

A FEW book-lovers in Gouverneur, Lawrence Co., N. Y., are just forming themselves into a book club under the title of the Brothers of the Book. To celebrate the inception of the club they propose issuing a dainty little brochure, the subject of which will be the "Conclusion of the Renaissance"—the summing-up of Pater's philosophy of life. Only a small number will be printed, but admirers of Pater (and other book-lovers) who would like copies, are invited to correspond with the Scrivener, L. C. Woodworth.

LES VINGT.

A BIBLIOGRAPHICAL society bearing the name of "Les Vingt," has been founded in Paris. As its name implies, only a score of members are allowed, and the society prints editions, limited to their own number, of special works. They supervise the printing of these books, which are delivered unstitched, neatly folded in a box. It is said that the members have not as yet printed any of their own works. Prince Roland Bonaparte, Mme. Georges Hugo, and Mme. Juliette Adam are mentioned as prominent in the society.

BUSINESS NOTES.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—L. H. Fielding & Co. have leased the entire building at 1024 and 1026 Walnut Street for five years, and will soon add largely to their stock of books, etc., and will also begin the manufacture of tablets and envelopes of all kinds. The building, which is six stories high, will be remodelled and refitted from top to bottom. Fielding & Co. went to Kansas City in September to represent Eastern manufacturers, but were so impressed with the city that they put in a stock of stationery, books, etc., for themselves in December.

MEDFORD, MASS.—C. V. Ehwegan has opened a book-store here.

MOLINE, ILL.—The directors of the Augustana Book Concern have decided to build a three-story brick building in the place of their present frame structure.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.—The New York Credit Men's Association has been looking into the recent sensational failure of L. Seligman, stationer, Montgomery, Ala., and declares it has found "evidence indicative of a fraudulent intent." A meeting of the New York creditors was held two weeks ago, at which Secretary H. J. Sayers submitted a proposition to have the creditors pay five per cent. as a fund to begin a criminal prosecution. This proposition did not seem to meet with general favor, and so the meeting adjourned without anything tangible being accomplished. In the meantime advices from Montgomery state that L. Seligman has left town for Atlanta, Ga.

NEW YORK CITY.—The George H. Richmond & Son Book Co. has been incorporated. Capital, $12,000, and directors—George H. Richmond, of Short Hills, N. J.; George H. Richmond, Jr., of Brooklyn, and L. I. Haber, of New York City.

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C.—Hickerson's Book-Store was destroyed by a fire on January 7.

PALESTINE, TEX.—The Palestine Publishing Company has been incorporated. Capital $5000.

PEORIA, ILL.—J. B. Drake's bookstore has been closed under a chattel mortgage.

RICHWOOD, O.—Mrs. Alma C. Hayes has bought one-half interest in O. W. Webb's Book-Store.

STREATOR, ILL.—F. Minor will open a bookstore here about March 1, and would be glad to receive catalogues and price-lists from publishers, manufacturers, and jobbers.

TROY, N. Y.—The Brewster Book Co. has been incorporated. Capital stock is reported as $8,000; debts, not exceeding $5,149.73; assets, at least $13,883.57.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

REINIKABOO is a new word, current among newspaper men, meaning a statement of news out of all proportion and almost out of relation to the facts, and yet having a certain origin and shadowy foundation.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have now ready thirteen volumes of the illustrated limited edition of the novels of Charles Lever, recently referred to in these columns. One or two volumes will hereafter be published monthly. Charles T. Dillingham, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, supplies the orders from New York.

GEORGE REDWAY, London, has nearly ready a book for young authors and playwrights, entitled "How to Publish a Book or an Article, and How to Produce a Play," by Leopold Wagner. The author claims that his book is a thoroughly practical guide to the young author, and is not written in the interests of any one firm or society.

YALE UNIVERSITY has come into possession of the original manuscript, dated 1719, of the notes and sermons of the Rev. Timothy Edwards, father of the renowned Jonathan Edwards, the gift of Charles Gormly, of Pittsburg, Pa., and a copy of The Ulster County [Kingston, N. Y.] Gazette, dated January 4, 1800, the gift of Mrs. Henry Barnes, of New Haven. The newspaper contains an account of the opening of the Congress of 1800 and the first address of President John Adams, and an account of the burial of George Washington.

THE suit for libel brought by Mr. A. Oakey Hall against the Right Hon. James Bryce, on account of certain allusions to himself in the latter's work, "The American Commonwealth," has been dismissed on account of the failure of Mr. Hall to prosecute it. Mr. Bryce spent five or six thousand dollars in getting testimony to defend his case, and the court has imposed the costs upon the plaintiff. As there is some doubt whether he will pay them, the New York Evening Post makes the sensible suggestion that in every suit of this sort the plaintiff should be required to file a bond for payment of costs, in case of an adverse decision.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

FEBRUARY 21, 3 P.M.—A collection of works on alchemy, bibliography, ornithology, numismatics, etc., consigned by Bernard Quaritch. (272 lots.)—Bangs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Thirty Years of American Finance.

A Short Financial History of the Government and People of the United States, 1865–96. By Alexander Dana Noyes, author of the New York Evening Post's "Free Coinage Catechism" in the Campaign of 1896. 12mo, $1.25.

The purpose of this book is to meet a demand very general among readers interested in American politics and finance of the present day; namely, the demand for a clear, concise, and complete review of the events in this country's financial history from 1865 to the present day. The book, which is a history and not an economic treatise, narrates the series of events which have governed the country's finances, public and private, during these thirty years.

The Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association.

Extract from

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE,

Consisting of Mr. C. Wildermann, Chairman, and Messrs. J. S. Packard, E. R. Pelton, John C. Loy, and J. A. Offord, appointed at a general meeting of The Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association.

"The Committee made diligent efforts to secure advantageous re-insurance for the members of The Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, considering only the best companies. Of these, one alone, the New York Life, was willing to make us an offer, which we herewith submit to our members. The rates are very much below the usual rates of this or other companies, and the policy offers great inducements. The Committee feel justified in recommending immediate application to the New York Life on the part of the members in order that they may take advantage of this favorable offer."

Extract from Report of Company.

The New York Life Insurance Company

Has made a careful examination of the Mortuary Statistics of this Association, and as a result of this examination the Company has authorized me to submit our Non-participating Policy, which calls for a very low fixed annual rate, that cannot be increased at any time.

Hence the evils of assessment insurance are explicitly avoided. After three years premiums have been paid, the policy cannot be lapsed or forfeited, for there are guaranteed loans, paid up values and term extensions, which afford the fullest amount of protection in these particulars. In addition, a month's grace is allowed in payment of premiums.

A contract of life insurance at a minimum premium rate in the New York Life, is so vastly preferable to any form of insurance issued by any other Company, that we are convinced a change will protect your best interests and you can make no mistake by acting promptly.
